

Yesterday she was up to the play house playing and in the meantime she had gone over to the black kettle where the milk for the pig is and had gotten some milk.

Conrad somehow went up to the play house and saw that she had washed all the woodwork in milk and all her doll clothes and everything she could find. So when I came home last night this is what I saw on the clothes line.

